ARUP ECONOMIC IMPACT STUDY

About

This summary paper is the outcome of a major study looking at the economic impact of ABP's 21 ports around Britain.

The study identifies direct, indirect and induced jobs associated with ABP's ports. It also measures ABP's economic impact by identifying each ports' Gross Value Added (GVA) contribution. GVA is a measure of Gross Domestic Product (GDP) which excludes taxes and subsidies.

As well as current GVA, the report looks at the additional GVA contribution which will be generated by ABP's programme of investment across the group.

The framework for the study was developed with reference to government guidance on evaluation and economic impact assessments, in particular guidance from HM Treasury and the Homes and Communities Agency.
